

Anhang 2: Verzeichnis der verwendeten Mantras

Im folgenden Index werden alle im untersuchten Material verwendeten Mantras verzeichnet. Dabei werden diese in Gruppen geordnet. Zunächst werden solche aus der Vājasaneyi-Saṃhitā (VS) des Śukla Yajurveda gelistet, dann Mantras aus anderen Saṃhitās, die nicht in der VS enthalten sind. Drittens werden Mantras aus anderen Texten der hier untersuchten Schule – dem Śatapathabrāhmaṇa (ŚB), dem Kātyāyanaśrautasūtra (KŚ) und dem Pāraskaragṛhyasūtra (PG) nebst dem Kātyāyana zugeschriebenen Śrāddha(kalpa)sūtra, einem Anhang (Pariśiṣṭa) zum PG (PGŚ) – zusammengefasst, ebenfalls nur, wenn sie nicht in der VS zu finden sind. In der vierten Gruppe sind schließlich alle weiteren Mantras gesammelt.<sup>1</sup>

Vergleicht man die ersten beiden Gruppen wird die Vorliebe für den eigenen Veda, den gebildete Priester auswendig beherrschen, überdeutlich. Nur selten werden externe vedische Mantras verwendet. Die Verse RV 5.51.11-15, die beinahe die Hälfte, der in der zweiten Gruppe genannten Sprüche ausmachen, gehören zum svastivācana und wurden als etabliertes Ritualpattern en bloc in das Ritual der hier untersuchten Tradition übernommen.<sup>2</sup> Die beim vedārambha verwendeten Mantras RV 1.1.1 und SāmaV 1.1 wurden aufgrund ihrer Position und pars pro toto für den gesamten anderen Veda ausgewählt. Der im Ritual verschiedentlich beim Umwickeln (mit Stoff) verwendete Mantra RV 3.8.4 ist bereits im PG, so in der Schule etabliert, dass er dort nur als pratīka genannt wird. Die vierte Gruppe enthält vor allem Mantras aus den Purāṇas und anderen späteren Texten, die weitaus stärker als vedische Mantras mit Modifikationen auftreten und daher nur schwer eindeutig einer Quellen zugeschrieben werden können.

Mantras aus VS

Etliche Mantras der VS wurden (teils mit Modifikationen) aus dem RV übernommen und finden sich in anderen Saṃhitās wieder. Diese Referenzen werden hier nicht verzeichnet (siehe dafür Bloomfield 1906).

- 1 Quellen werden hier nur für Mantras aus den RVKh angegeben, da diese im Text teils ohne pratīka angeführt werden. Sonstige Quellen, falls bestimmbar, sind im Haupttext verzeichnet.
  - 2 Ähnliches gilt für den in der vierten Gruppe verzeichneten Mantra RVKh 5.87.9, der beim Bereiten von pañcagavya verwendet wird (vgl. Kap. 5.2.3 §1). Auch andere Mantras bzw. Mantrasequenzen entstammen ursprünglich anderen Schulen. Ein prominentes Beispiel ist etwa das sogenannte āpohiṣṭhīya, RV 10.9.1-3 (siehe dazu Kap. 9.2 §10). Da diese jedoch in die VS übernommen wurden (im Falle des āpohiṣṭhīya sogar mehrfach: VS 11.50-52 und 34.14-6), werden sie hier nur in der ersten Gruppe gelistet.
