Arbeitskreis Südostasien in der
Deutschen Gesellschaft fuer Geographie (DGfG)
Jahrestagung 2004, Call for Papers

11.-13. Juni 2004 in Göttingen

Die nächste, elfte Jahrestagung des Arbeitskreises Südostasien findet vom 11.-13. Juni 2004 in Göttingen statt. Die Tagung wird, wie bereits in den Vorjahren, kein spezielles Rahmenthema tragen. Damit soll der interdisziplinäre Charakter des Arbeitskreises und der schon traditionelle Forumscharakter, gerade auch für Nachwuchswissenschaftlerinnen und Nachwuchswissenschaftler, unterstrichen werden. Wir bitten Kolleginnen und Kollegen, die in der Region Südostasien an Forschungs- und Lehrprojekten arbeiten, um Meldung entsprechender Beiträge. Auch möchten wir besonders Examenskandidaten ermutigen, Ergebnisse laufender Diplom-/Examensarbeiten oder Dissertationen vorzustellen. Diesen Beiträgen wird traditionsgemäß besondere Beachtung geschenkt.

Auf Einladung von Herrn Kollegen Kreisel, der mit seinem Team dankenswerterweise die lokale Organisation übernommen hat, stehen uns für die Tagung Räume der Universität Göttingen zur Verfügung. Die Universität Göttingen hat mit dem Sonderforschungsbereich SFB 552: "Stabilität von Randzonen tropischer Regenwälder in Indonesien" einen Forschungsschwerpunkt und wird im Rahmen der Tagung Ergebnisse vorstellen. Einzelheiten zu Organisation, Tagungsort, Kosten etc. erhalten Sie mit beiliegender Datei. Ferner sind die Informationen in wenigen Tagen auch auf der Webseite des Arbeitskreises www.suedostasien.uni-koeln.de zu finden. Vortragsangebote mit Titel und Kurzfassung werden bis zum 30.4.2004 erbeten an die Sprecher des Arbeitskreises: Frauke Kraas, Geographisches Institut, Universität zu Köln, Albertus-Magnus-Platz, 50923 Köln, Fax: 0221 470 4917. Karl-Heinz Pfeffer, Geographisches Institut, Universität Tübingen, Hölderlinstrasse 12, 72074 Tübingen, Fax: 07071 29-5318

The XV Conference of the European Association of Chinese Studies

August 25-29, 2004 Institute of Chinese Studies, Heidelberg

The conference has the purpose to present the best and most innovative recent research across the spectrum of Chinese Studies from archaeological to political science approaches, from phenomena in the distant past to those of the present day, from China's global interaction to local developments; to foster exchange and cooperation across national and disciplinary, methodological and generational borders; to encourage young scholars to strive for academic excellence by offering an award for the best scholarly study by a China scholar under 35, together with a platform to present the research results to the Conference. Refer to the conference website at http://www.sino.uni-heidelberg.de/eacs2004/content/conference_info/call_for_papers/index.php?section=2&subsection=21#ysa for more information. Scholars are invited and encouraged to submit proposals for panels or individual talks to be presented at the Conference. Senior scholars are strongly encouraged and kindly invited to submit proposals themselves, and to actively alert young scholars of promise in their institutions to the upcoming conference. The basic form of submission is electronic via the Paper Submission & Login page on the conference homepage at www.sino.uni-heidelberg.de/eacs2004. In exceptional cases proposals in printed form are also accepted. These should be sent to: EACS-Team, Institute of Chinese Studies, University of Heidelberg, Akademiestr. 4-8, D-69117 Heidelberg, Germany, E-mail: eacs2004@gw.sino.uni-heidelberg.de

The deadline for submissions is February 28, 2004. For further information, please consult the conference website at <http://www.sino.uni-heidelberg.de/eacs2004>. Tel: +49 6221 547657
