

einer Zusammenarbeit, die Diskussionen wie die, die hier versucht wurde, überflüssig machen.

Kai. J. Genenz, Berlin

Ankündigungen

25th Anniversary Conference Center for Southeast Asian Studies, Northern Illinois University: Biennial Burma Studies Group Conference & Annual Council on Thai Studies Conference, Oct. 14-16, 1988

The Center for Southeast Asian Studies wishes to announce the celebration of its 25th anniversary on Saturday, October 15, 1988. The biennial Burma Studies Group Conference and the annual conference of COTS (Council on Thai Studies) will present current research papers:

- C. Wilson: Economic change and revenue administration in nineteenth century Thailand;
- P. Stamps da Grossa: Gam Phaeng Din: A study of prostitution in the all-Thai brothels of Chiang Mai City;
- S. Bacthi: The Tai Dam: Nowhere to stay;
- D.K. Wyatt: Assaults of ghosts: Politics and religion in early Northern Thailand;
- C. Laurence: Trends in rural development in Thailand;
- R.J. Muscat: The role of U.S. aid in Thai economic development since 1950;
- S. Russell: The persistence of small-scale fishing in the eastern seaboard of Thailand;
- L. Thomas: The impact of the eastern seaboard project on community organization;
- C. Neher: The impact of the development of the eastern seaboard region on nearby farmers;
- W. Bell: Situation-specific nature and inter-agency coordination in the Thai bureaucracy: The case of southern Thailand;
- S.F. Lu: The splendor of Burmese textiles;
- D. Stadner: Dharmaceti's Pegu;
- F.K. Lehman: Some observations on Burmese ethnomusicology;
- R. Taylor: Scholarship on Burma since the coup of 1962;
- J.-M. Rostorfer: The context of the new Kayah script;
- Daw Khin Yi: The Dobama anti-colonial movement in Burma;
- U Than Tun: The provincial administrative reports of Burma: Sittans;
- Chao-Thi Lieu: Slavery in Burma from middle age to modern times;
- U Aye Kyaw: Crimes against religion in the penal code of Burma and Thailand.