Newly Appointed Leaders

Chen Liangyu

According to a decision of the CCP CC, he is appointed secretary of CCP Shanghai Municipal Committee, replacing Huang Ju who has been transferred to work for the central authorities. Chen, 56, currently mayor of Shanghai, has consecutively served as deputy director of the Shanghai Pengpu Machinery Plant, deputy secretary of CCP Shanghai Metallurgy and Mining Machinery Corporation Committee, secretary of CCP Shanghai Electrical Appliances Corporation Committee, deputy director and later director of the Retired Cadre Bureau under the CCP Shanghai Municipal Committee, deputy secretary and head of CCP Shanghai Huangpu District Committee, head of Huangpu District, and deputy secretary-general of CCP Shanghai Municipal Committee. From October 1996, Chen served successively as deputy secretary of CCP Shanghai Municipal Committee and vice-mayor of Shanghai. He was appointed acting mayor of Shanghai in accordance with a decision reached at a session of the Municipal People's Congress in December 2001 and mayor of Shanghai by the congress on 26 February 2002. Born in October 1946, Chen Liangyu, a native of Ningbo City in Zhejiang Province, graduated from the PLA Institute of Rear-Service Engineering in 1968. (Xinhua, 22 Oct 02, in BBC PF, 23 Oct 02; RMRB, XNA, 23 Oct 02) Chen is an alternate member of the 15th CCP CC. See C.a., 1996/10, p.1018/12, 2001/11, p.1258/22, 2002/2, p.199/21.

He Guoqiang

According to a recent decision of the CCP CC, he is appointed as director of the CCP CC Organization Department. (Xinhua, 24 Oct 02, in BBC PF, 25 Oct 02; RMRB, XNA, 25 Oct 02) He will no longer hold the post of secretary of CCP Chongqing Municipal Committee. See entry below. He is a member of the 15th CCP CC. For his vita see C.a., 1996/10, p.1018/12. See also 1996/11, p.1104/14, 1997/4, p.374/12, 1999/6, p.630/16, and 1999/8, p.855/17.

Huang Zhendong (1)

According to a decision of the CCP CC, he is appointed member, Standing Committee member, and secretary of CCP Chongqing Municipal Committee. (Xinhua, 22 Oct 02, in BBC PF, 23 Oct 02; RMRB, XNA, 23 Oct 02) He was removed as minister of communications. See entry below. Huang, born in December 1940, is a native of Dafeng, Jiangsu Province. He is a senior engineer. He joined the CCP in 1981. Huang graduated from mathematics and physics major at Nanjing School of Shipping Engineering in 1962. United States (Oct 21)

China and the United States signed a memorandum of understanding on E-language project that will help provide the high school students with excellent language education resources from each country. The document was signed by visiting Chinese Vice-Minister of Education Zhou Ji and US Secretary of Education Roderick Paige. The Sino-US E-language project is one of the most substantial joint projects of the two governmental education authorities since the establishment of the diplomatic relationship between China and the United States, a Chinese embassy official said. The E-language project is network-based platform, jointly supported by experts in both countries, to apply the Internet, multimedia, module and other information technologies to the Chinese and English language education. In recent years, there is an increasing demand for Chinese language education among students in US. According to the statistics, over 700 US universities have Chinese language programmes, which account for 20 per cent of the total and over 100 Chinese language centres are established on the campuses. There are over 200 primary and high schools with Chinese language programmes and over 800 weekend Chinese language schools. The number of primary and high school students who enrol in Chinese language classes in various ways has reached 100,000. The Sino-US E-language project was launched to meet the need for the new trends. The project will help more and more American primary and high schools to set up Chinese programme. At the same time, more and more children in US will have new ways to experience the Chinese history and culture. This project will become a bridge for students in both countries to learn about the world and learn from each other. (XNA, 22 Oct 02)

Insurance Law of the People's Republic of China, adopted at the 14th session of the 8th NPC Standing Committee on 30 June 1995, and revised according to the "Decision on amending the 'Insurance Law of the PRC'" at the 30th session of the 9th NPC Standing Committee on 28 October 2002. The law consists of eight chapters with 158 articles. (Full text of the law and the decision: RMRB, 4 Nov 02)

The Amendment to the Insurance Law emphasizes the protection of the legal interests of policy holders and the supervision to the insurance market. (XNA, 29 Oct 02)

The amended Insurance Law will help promote the development of the insurance industry, China Insurance Regulatory Commission Chairman Wu Dingfu said on 29 October. Wu noted that the amendment removed the rigid requirement on re-insurance for non-life insurance business, to make it in line with China's commitments on entry to the WTO. The amendment also allows insurance companies to decide the provisions and rates for their products, ending the practice of the regulatory commission setting the rates. With the amendment in force, property insurance companies will be allowed to sell accident and short-term health insurance policies, which were solely undertaken by life insurance firms. The revised law also eases restrictions on insurance companies in investing their revenues, although they are still banned from running securities firms and other businesses. Wu said he believed the amended law will improve regulation of the industry and step up the integration of Chinese insurance industry and the world market. (XNA, 31 Oct 02)

(Full text: RMRB, 23 Oct 02) The provisions will be effective on 1 December 2002 and its predecessor, issued on 15 April 1991, will be automatically annulled. According to the provisions, no government departments, institutions, private enterprises or other businesses are allowed to employ minors under 16 years old. Job recommendations for them are banned in all job agencies. Meanwhile, youngsters less than 16 years old are not permitted to start up a business or become self-employed. The provisions say that employers must check the identity cards of all job applicants. Parents and children's legitimate guardians are responsible for protecting their minors from being illegally employed. Government departments such as the labour and social security departments, the police and administrations for industry and commerce are authorized to supervise and stop any use of child labour. Violations by business people or government officials will lead to punishment which includes fines, withdrawal of business licenses and criminal charges. (XNA, 17 Oct 02)

Regulations of the People's Republic of China on Export Control of Dual-use Biological Agents and Related Equipment and Technologies. These regulations will be effective on 1 December 2002. (Order No. 365 of the State Council, signed by Premier Zhu Rongji on 14 October 2002) The regulations consist of 25 articles. (Full Chinese text and translation: RMRB, XNA, 18 Oct 02) Foreign Ministry spokeswoman Zhang Qiyue on 17 October issued a statement on the State Council's promulgation of the "Regulations". The following is the full text of the statement:

On 14 October 2002, the State Council promulgated the Regulations on Export Control of Dual-use Biological Agents and Related Equipment and Technologies, which clearly stipulated China's export control measures on dual-use biological agents and related equipment and technologies. China has all along advocated the total ban and thorough destruction of all kinds of weapons of mass destruction, including biological weapons. As a state party to the Convention on the Prohibition of the Development, Production, and Stockpiling of Bacteriological (Biological) and Toxin Weapons and On Their Destruction, China has always fulfilled earnestly its obligations under the convention. China has never developed, produced or stockpiled any biological weapons, and never assisted any country to acquire or develop these weapons. China has always opposed the proliferation of biological weapons and has adopted strict export control policies. China has formulated the Regulations on Export Control of Dual-use Biological Agents and Related Equipment and Technologies by taking into consideration the development of the domestic and international situations and basing on the domestic practices and the experiences of other countries in export control. As one of the significant measures to improve China's export control of sensitive items, the regulations will further improve China's export control of dual-use biological agents and related equipment and technologies. I would like to take this opportunity to point out that, according to the provisions of the Convention on the Prohibition of the Development, Production, and Stockpiling of Bacteriological (Biological) and Toxin Weapons and On Their Destruction, state parties have the obligation of promoting the international exchanges and cooperation for peaceful purposes in biological field. China attaches importance to and will continue such exchanges and cooperation. The Chinese government has formulated these "Regulations" to adapt to the international development and the needs to improve the rule of law in China, and also to regulate the exchanges and cooperation in biological field between China and other countries. The entering into force of the "Regulations", along with other existing regulations related to export control, will establish a comprehensive non-proliferation and export control system covering all sensitive items in the nuclear, biological, chemical, and missile fields. This marks further improvement of legislation and export control by law, and thus has a significant bearing on fulfilling China's international non-proliferation obligation and normal development of foreign economic and trade cooperation activities. (Xinhua, 17 Oct 02, in BBC PF, 18 Oct 02)

The Decision of the State Council and the Central Military Commission on the Revision of the "Regulations of the People's Republic of China on Control of Military Products Export" is hereby promulgated and will begin implementation starting 15 November 2002. (Decree No 366 of the State Council of the People's Republic of China and the Central Military Commission [CMC] of the People's Republic of China, signed by Zhu Rongji, Premier of the State Council, and by CMC Chairman Jiang Zemin on 15 October 2002) (Xinhua, 20 Oct 02, in BBC PF, 21 Oct 02; full text of the decree and the regulations: RMRB, 21 Oct 02) The regulations consist of six chapters with 30 articles.

PRC Regulations on Control of Military Products Export. Xinhua News Agency was authorized on 20 October to broadcast a set of revised regulations governing the export control of military goods. The regulations were first implemented on 1 January, 1998. The revisions have been approved by a decree jointly issued by China's State Council and CMC. A total of 18 major revisions have been made. Such military goods include military equipment, special production facilities, and materials, technologies and services for military purposes. According to the revised regulations, military goods for export should be put into a special management list which should be formulated and readjusted by authorities in charge of military exports. Authorized exporters of military goods are demanded to submit documents and materials concerning their export activities to the above authorities, which in turn should keep commercial secrets for the exporters and safeguard their legitimate interests. Major military export projects and contracts should be examined by the authorities with joint work of related departments of the State Council and CMC, and be submitted to the State Council and CMC for approval, according to the revised regulations. (XNA, 21 Oct 02; full text of the amendments: Xinhua, 20 Oct 02, in BBC PF, 21 Oct 02)

Measures on Export Control of Certain Chemicals and Related Equipment and Technologies.

The Chinese government issued a set of measures on controlling chemicals exports on 18 October via a decree co-signed by Shi Guangsheng, minister of the Ministry of Foreign Trade and Economic Cooperation (MOFTEC), Li Rongrong, chairman of the State Economic and Trade Commission and Mou Xinsheng, director of the General Administration of Customs. They said in Decree No. 33 of these departments that the "Measures", which consist of 22 articles, would come into effect as of 19 November this year. (XNA, 20 Oct 02; full Chinese text and translation: RMRB, XNA, 20 Oct 02)

MOFTEC spokeswoman Gao Yan said on 19 October China instituted Regulations on the Administration of Controlled Chemicals in 1995 and had exercised rigorous administration of the production, management, and use of controlled chemicals, including their import and export. The new measures, which complemented the regulations, would further strengthen China's export control of dual-use chemicals and related equipment and technologies. As an important part of China's export control legal system, the measures are significant to the country's implementation of its non-proliferation policy, fulfilling its international obligations, safeguarding its national safety and social public interests, and standardizing its export controls of sensitive items, she said. MOFTEC would, along with other relevant ministries, take effective measures to ensure the implementation of the measures, so as to further the process of building legislation concerning export control, Gao said. Gao expressed the hope that exporters would fully understand the regulations on export control, and abide by them.

Chinese Foreign Ministry spokeswoman Zhang Qiyue made an introduction to the "Measures" on the same day. Following is the full text of the spokeswoman's introduction:

Authorized by the State Council, the Ministry of Foreign Trade and Economic Cooperation of the PRC, the State Economic and Trade Commission of the PRC and the General Administration of Customs of the PRC jointly promulgated the "Measures on Export Control of Certain Chemicals and Related Equipment and Technologies" on 18 October. China has all along advocated the complete prohibition and thorough destruction of all kinds of weapons of mass destruction, including chemical weapons, and opposed any country in any way to develop, possess, produce or use chemical weapons or proliferate such weapons. As a State party to the Convention on the Prohibition of the Development, Production, Stockpiling and Use of Chemical Weapons and on Their Destruction (CWC), China has firmly abided by the provisions of the Convention, fulfilled its obligations under the Convention in a serious and comprehensive manner and instituted Regulations of the PRC on the Administration of the Controlled Chemicals to exercise export control rigorously. Combining the development of domestic and international situations, on the basis of former domestic practices in export control and using the experiences of other countries for reference, these Measures on Export Control of Certain Chemicals and Related Equipment and Technologies were instituted. As one of another significant measures taken to improve China's export control of sensitive items, these measures will further complete China's export control of dual-use chemicals and related equipment and technologies. Taking this opportunity, I would like to point out that according to the provisions of the CWC, every State party has the obligation of promoting international chemical exchange and cooperation activities for peaceful purposes to enhance economic and technological development of all the State parties. China would continuously conduct such normal exchange and cooperation activities in accordance with this purpose with other countries. (XNA, 20 Oct 02)

Provisional Regulations on Investigation of Foreign Trade Barriers.

As pointed out by a responsible official with the MOFTEC, the "Provisional Regulations", to be officially put into force on 1 November, symbolize that China has built an initial system for trade-barrier investigation. The promulgation and implementation of this set of investigation regulations, he said, will help eliminate various restrictive barriers encountered in China's foreign trade and investment and effectively safeguard its trade, investment, and industrial interests according to law. In recent years, some countries have in various ways erected barriers of one kind or another against imports or in-bound investment. Such barriers have constituted one of the major factors restricting China's development of exports and foreign investment. Since the 1990's, developed countries, such as the United States and some European countries, have formulated procedures and regulations for investigating trade barriers. Based on these procedures and regulations, they have established fairly good trade-barrier-investigation systems and thus effectively protected the interests of their domestic industries. After China's entry into the WTO, investigation of trade and investment barriers has become one of the major functions of MOFTEC. This function is undertaken by the newly established Fair Trade Bureau of Imports and Exports. Early this year, MOFTEC began to formulate a set of Provisional Regulations on Investigation of Foreign Trade Barrier, which was promulgated recently. The above-mentioned regulations contain provisions on the procedures for application, examination, investigation, and judgment of cases of trade and investment barriers as well as related measures. The regulations also give domestic enterprises and industries relatively sufficient rights to apply for investigation of cases of trade and investment barriers and set rather strict stipulations as to the activities of investigative organizations. This set of regulations will be a standard document used by the MOFTEC in developing the work of investigating trade and investment barriers. (Xinhua, 7 Oct 02, in BBC PF, 8 Oct 02; XNA, 8 Oct 02)

Central Military Commission Chairman Jiang Zemin signed an order promulgating the Outline of Logistic Support for Battle Equipment of the Chinese PLA. The "Outline" is the first basic code formulated and promulgated by the CMC in the wake of the adjustment made to our army's equipment management system in an effort to regulate equipment support for our armed services and combat groups in battle during wartime. The outline constitutes the basic foundation of logistic support for our army's battle equipment and an important component of the new generation of combat regulations of our army. It has 11 chapters and 378 articles, covering the activities of every aspect, level, and link of logistic support for battle equipment. It reflects the basic characteristics and guiding rules of logistic support for battle equipment under hi-tech and local war conditions and clearly defines the missions, role, functions, guiding thoughts, and basic principles of logistic support for battle equipment. It determines the basic content of the logistic support system for battle equipment, the organization of forces, and the command and services in providing logistic support for battle equipment. It regulates the basic methods of logistic support for battle equipment used in combined operations, ground operations, naval operations, air operations, and Second Artillery Corps operations. It is suitable for equipment support and training in various service operations organized by combat groups at various levels under the command of the army, navy, air force, and Second Artillery Corps. It is also suitable for equipment support and training in combined operations organized by combat groups, various theatres, and group armies. The outline stipulates that in organizing and implementing logistic support for battle equipment, it is necessary to use Mao Zedong's military thinking, Deng Xiaoping's thinking on army building in the new period, and a host of important speeches and writings on army building by Jiang Zemin as guide, implement the military strategic policy for the new period, focus on the characteristics and guiding rules of battles under hi-tech conditions, conduct operations with resolve, coordinate in an overall manner in the use of equipment support forces, carry forward our fine traditions in equipment support, make full use of our overall logistic support power coming from the integration of peace time production with preparedness against war and the integration of all armed services, and comprehensively employ multiple logistic support methods and means to provide prompt and reliable equipment support for operations by all kinds of combat forces in an all-round way and on a selective basis. The outline has made it clear that logistic support for battle equipment is an important part of combat operations and plays an important role in maintaining and raising the battle readiness of combat groups and in ensuring battle victories. The basic mission of logistic support for battle equipment is to integrate the organization of the equipment support forces through reinforcement by higher levels and the backing of localities and, with the logistic support of strategic equipment units, deploy equipment and technology, appropriate budgets, and manage equipment in the battleground to ensure the smooth accomplishment of combat missions. Note: Since August 2000, the „resident population“ approach has been adopted in place of the „extended de facto approach for compiling population estimates. In the above table, statistics which are population-related have been revised accordingly and annotated with . CPI (A), CPI(B) and CPI(C) are compiled based on the expenditure patterns of households in the relatively low, medium and relatively high expenditure ranges respectively. A Composite CPI is compiled based on the overall expenditure pattern of all the above households taken together. The CPI(C) was formerly known as the Hang Seng CPI and was compiled by the Hang Seng Bank since 1974. Starting from the reference month of July 1999, the data collection and compilation work of the index have been taken up by the Census and Statistics Department and the index has been renamed as CPI(C).
