PRC Laws and Regulations

Liu Jen-Kai

Regulations of the People's Republic of China on Traditional Chinese Medicine, passed by the 3rd meeting of the State Council Standing Conference on 2 April 2003. These regulations will take effect on 1 October 2003. (Decree No 374 of the State Council, signed by Premier Wen Jiabao on 7 April 2003) (Xinhua, 6 May 03, in BBC PF, 8 May 03)

Chairman Jiang Zemin of the Central Military Commission (CMC) recently signed a decree to proclaim implementation of the Regulations on Military Statutes and Military Bylaws. This an important military statute drawn up by the CMC in the light of the "Legislation Law of the PRC" and is an important measure for reinforcing military legislation and pushing governance of the military according to law. The CMC announced the "Interim Regulations on Legislative Procedure of the Chinese PLA" on 15 April 1990. In the last 13 years, the CMC together with all the General Departments, military arms and military regions have drawn up a total of over 130 military statutes and over 2,500 military bylaws, which have played an important role in assuring and promoting national defence and the modernization drive of the armed forces. Along with development of the situation, especially after China's promulgation of the "Legislation Law" in 2000, the "Interim Regulations" has lagged behind the development requirement of the nation's legislative system and the objective needs during the course of military legislation. In order to meet the new situation and mission, the CMC has used the important thinking of the "three representations" [on the importance of the communist party in modernizing the nation - representing the demands for the development of advanced social productive forces, the direction of advanced culture, and the fundamental interests of the greatest majority of the people] as the guide and the relevant provisions in the "Constitution," the "Legislation Law" and the "National Defence Law" as the basis to scientifically sum up the characteristics, normal pattern and historic experience of military legislative work and to fully absorb the innovative success of the nation's legislative work, and has used the "Interim Regulations" as the foundation to draw up the new "Regulations on Military Statutes and Military Bylaws". The "Regulations" has 11 chapters and 69 articles. It clarifies the status and role of military statutes and military bylaws in army building, establishes the principles for drawing up, amending and abolishing military statutes and military bylaws, determines the jurisdiction of statutes drawn up by the CMC and bylaws drawn up by the General Departments, the military arms and the military regions, and adheres to the scientific and democratic requirements for military legislation. It further perfects the procedure for formulation of military statutes and bylaws and draws up a series of new stipulations pertaining to drafting, examination, decision and promulgation. The "Regulations" also defines the new requirements for amendment and abolition of military statutes and bylaws, expands the contents on application and interpretation of military statutes and bylaws, and unifies the style and standard for military statutes and bylaws and the format for proclamation of decrees. (Xinhua, 4 Apr 03, in BBC PF, 8 Apr 03; RMRB, 5 Apr 03)

CMC Chairman Jiang Zemin recently signed a decree promulgating the amended Regulations on Family Planning of the Chinese PLA. The amended "Regulations" have earnestly implemented the important thinking of the "three representations", positively adapted to the new situation during reform and development of the country and the armed forces, reflected the handling of affairs according to law and scientific management in the light of the "Population and Family Planning Law" as well as relevant laws and regulations, and promoted transformation of the mechanism for family planning work and the way of working in the military. They have reflected people as the foundation and efforts are for the benefit of the officers and men, assured the legal rights and interests of military personnel to practice family planning, embodied the overall situation of comprehensive management and service, formed the combined force in which relevant departments join hands to manage family planning work, and ensured that military family planning work continues to stay at the forefront of the whole society during the new era. The amendment has grappled mainly with five principles. First, the consistency of laws and regulations - it has unified the laws and regulations of the state, complemented the relevant laws and regulations of the military, and linked up the rules and regulations of all localities. Second, the stability of policies - it has abided by the guiding ideology of "the state to stabilize the birth policy in force," taken into account some special circumstances, and made the birth policy fairer and more reasonable. Third, the special characteristics of the military - it has integrated the enforcement of state laws and regulations with the special characteristics of the military, insisted on proceeding from reality, and striven to be specific and feasible. Fourth, the scientific nature of the contents - it has elevated the summarized practice and experience to laws and regulations and affirmed them, made the contents more systematic and complete, and complemented the relevant laws and regulations. Fifth, the advanced nature of the efforts - it has insisted on a high standard, reflected stringent demands, and pushed the development of family planning work in the military to a higher level. The amended contents include applicable scope, division of duties, birth control, births after remarriage, rights, obligations, preferential treatments and rewards. The "Regulations" specified that under the condition of conforming to the stipulations of the provinces, autonomous regions and municipalities for having a second child, and based on where the household register on the wife's side is located, a married couple can apply to have a second child if both the husband and wife are only children, both are ethnic minorities, and the employee's spouse is a rural resident. The "Regulations" has also provided that the military shall guarantee according to law the rights of military personnel to enjoy free of charge the basic items in family planning technical services defined by the state for legal births, and other in force family planning rights and interests stipulated by laws and regulations. Couples of child-bearing age enjoy the right to know and choose the contraceptive and birth control method, and the right of security support. Female soldiers and employees who meet the specifications for late birth and on their own free will choose to have only one child in their lifetime will enjoy an extra 90 days of maternity leave on top of the stipulated three months. The amendment and proclamation of the "Regulations" will provide the basic guarantee for doing a good job in family planning work during the new era. It will generate a major effect and have a far-reaching influence during the course of carrying out management according to law, deepening propaganda service, pushing reform and innovation, and improving work standard. The original "Regulations" were approved by the CMC and promulgated by the General Staff, General Political and General Logistics Departments on 5 January 1996. (Xinhua, 7 Apr 03, in BBC PF, 9 Apr 03; RMRB, 8 Apr 03)

CMC Chairman Jiang Zemin recently signed an order to promulgate and implement the Regulations on the Safety Work of the Chinese PLA. They are the first of their kind promulgated and implemented by the armed forces. They indicate that the safety work of our armed forces has become more standardized and legalized. Safety work is an important guarantee to maintaining a high stability of the armed forces, enabling them to fulfil various tasks with complete success, and consolidating and increasing their combat effectiveness. The "Regulations on Safety Work" have taken the important thinking of the "three representations" as guidance, consolidating and increasing the combat effectiveness of the armed forces as the fundamental objective, and relevant laws and regulations of the country and the armed forces as the basis, focused on maintaining a high degree of stability, centralism and unity and strengthening overall army building, fully drawn on the successful experience and effective methods in the past few years in the spirit of undertaking high responsibility for the country and the people and for the safety of the lives of the officers and soldiers, and provided a scientific and fundamental basis for doing a good job in the safety work of the armed forces. The "Regulations on Safety Work" are divided into 57 articles in 10 chapters. They clearly define the guiding ideology, basic tasks, policies, principles, position and role of the safety work of our armed forces as well as the duties and work system at various levels. The regulations set stricter demands on enforcing discipline in their provisions on improving the responsibility system and investigating people held responsible; stipulate clearly that chief and deputy military and administrative officers and various organs must perform their duties in safety work, and emphasize that after an accident occurs, it is necessary to investigate and affix the responsibility of the people who are held directly responsible for the accident, and it is also necessary to investigate according to law the responsibility of leaders of the relevant unit. The regulations systematically and concretely standardize the organization, leadership, work system, education, training, inspection, supervision, the investigation and handling of accidents, reports, and statistics of safety work, as well as methods and requirements for safety equipment. The regulations stipulate that accidents are classified according to their nature into accidents due to negligence and accidents not due to negligence, and classified according to their degree of danger into four grades: ordinary accidents, serious accidents, major accidents and extraordinarily serious accidents. The regulations set concrete requirements for accident reports and statistics in terms of time limits, contents and ways, and emphasize the necessity of organizing rescue at once, and making reports and conducting investigation according to regulations after an accident occurs. The regulations clearly define the general principles for investigating and affixing responsibility for an accident, the difference between direct responsibility and leadership responsibility, and how to deal with people held for direct responsibility and personnel held for leadership responsibility. The "Regulations on Safety Work" will come into effect on the day of their promulgation. (Xinhua, 8 Apr 03, in BBC PF, 10 Apr 03; RMRB, 9 Apr 03)

The People's Bank of China (PBOC) on 15 April promulgated procedures for confiscating and identifying counterfeit money in an effort to regulate related activities and protect the legal right and interests of money holders. The procedures, which consist of five chapters with 21 articles, provided detailed stipulations governing the confiscation and identification of counterfeit money and penalties for violations. Under the procedures, commercial banks, urban and rural credit cooperatives and postal deposit institutions are empowered to confiscate suspected counterfeit cash during transactions, while the PBOC and its authorized identification institutions are responsible for identifying whether the money is counterfeit or genuine. The procedures will go into effect on 1 July 2003. (XNA, 16 Apr 03)

China published new rules governing foreign-invested book, newspaper and magazine distribution on 3 April, China Daily reported on 4 April. The new rules, issued by the State Press and Publication Administration (SPPA) and to take effect on 1 May, provide specific guidance on the establishment of foreign-funded book, newspaper and magazine distributors, the newspaper said. In accordance with its WTO commitments, China opened its book, newspaper and magazine retail business to foreign investors in December last year, although this is still limited to certain areas of the country. An official with the SPPA said it will accept and handle applications from overseas investors once the rules go into effect. The rules set out requirements on application procedures, registered capital, and business scale of foreign invested distributors. A registered capital of 5m RMBY (604,000 US$) is needed for retailing companies and 30m RMBY (3.62m US$) is required for wholesalers, the newspaper said. The regulations regarding wholesale companies will take effect on 1 December 2004, when the sector is opened to foreign investors, the SPPA officials was quoted as saying.

Note: Since August 2000, the „resident population“ approach has been adopted in place of the „extended de facto approach for compiling population estimates. In the above table, statistics which are population-related have been revised accordingly and annotated with **. CPI (A), CPI(B) and CPI(C) are compiled based on the expenditure patterns of households in the relatively low, medium and relatively high expenditure ranges respectively. A Composite CPI is compiled based on the overall expenditure pattern of all the above households taken together. The CPI(C) was formerly known as the Hang Seng CPI and was compiled by the Hang Seng Bank since 1974. Starting from the reference month of July 1999, the data collection and compilation work of the index have been taken up by the Census and Statistics Department and the index has been renamed as CPI(C).
