CHINA'S ECONOMIC AIDBangladesh

Construction of the Bangladesh-China friendship bridge over the Buriganga River in Dhaka started on 18th November, the largest project aided by China in Bangladesh. The bridge is being constructed with Chinese expertise and equipment at a cost of about 20 m U.S. dollars. It is expected to be completed within three and half years. About 150 Chinese technicians and engineers and workers are working on the site. The bridge will be over 847 m long and 17.6 m wide, with 21 spans, and horizontal and vertical clearances of 76 m and 12.2 m respectively for easy navigation. It will have an underpass at the Dhaka end to ease traffic congestion. (XNA, Nov 18, 1986)

Nepal

The Bhrikuti paper mill built with China's assistance at Gaidakot in Nawaprasa District, some 150 km southwest of Kathmandu, was inaugurated on Dec 4, 1986. The paper mill is the first modern paper plant in the country with a production capacity of 10 tons every day or 3,000 tons of writing paper and printing paper a year. Local Sabai grasses and wheat straw are main paper-making materials. The construction of the mill was started in November 1983 and completed in April 1986. Through trial and regular production for six months, the quality and the quantity of its products showed that the standards of design can be reached or exceeded. The paper mill can meet 15 percent of Nepal's paper requirement. (XNA, Dec 4, 1986)

Peru

Under a protocol on economic and technical cooperation of Dec 16, 1986, the Chinese government will assist the Peruvian government in implementing the following projects: the building of 80 irrigations wells in the Puno province, covering 4,000 hectares; construction of a cement plant with a vertical kiln that will produce 30,000 metric tons a year; the supply of medical equipment worth 500,000 pounds sterling (715,000 U.S. dollars) to outfit health centers; and Chinese technical assistance for the installation and management of the projects. (XNA, Dec 17, 1986)

Zambia

A Chinese expert team was commended on Dec 4, 1986 for its contribution to the development of Zambia's rice production. It is working at the Kafushi rice project in Kabwe of the Central Province. The rice project, a joint venture between the Zambian and Chinese governments beginning in 1975, is currently experimenting on 26 varieties of rice with a view to finding high-yielding, fast-maturing and disease-resistant varieties.
