(XNA, Apr 26, 1990)

Soviet Union (Apr 25)

A Long-term cooperation and development program of economy, science and technology. It confirmed that both sides shared the desire to continue to develop bilateral relations in the fields of economy, science and technology in a planned way on the basis of equality and mutual benefits. It also defined ways and fields for cooperative development before 2000, to further perfect bilateral cooperation in science-technology and economy, and to actively promote the levels of material and cultural life of the two peoples.

B Cooperation agreement on peaceful use and studies of space. Under it, both sides will develop mutually cooperation on peaceful use and studies of space to benefit the peoples of the two countries, in line with widely-accepted international laws, and multilateral treaties and agreements involving the two countries as well as their respective state laws and regulations.

C Agreement on mutual reduction of military forces on border areas and the guidance of enhancing trust in the military field. Under it, both sides will reduce military forces to the lowest level suited to normal goodneighborly relations between the two countries on an equal basis of mutual security. The two sides shared the view that this is a major prerequisite for developing their friendly and goodneighborly relations and a contribution to strengthening peace in the Asia and Pacific region and the world as a whole.

D Consultation accord between the two foreign ministries. It confined that departments of the two foreign ministries including their missions abroad will consult with one another on bilateral relations and international issues of common concern in the spirit of the agreements reached at the Sino-Soviet high level meeting last May.

E Credit agreement of daily-use commodities provided by China.

F Memorandum on the construction of a nuclear power plant in China.

G Memorandum on a Soviet government loan to China.

(XNA, Apr 25, 1990)

(XNA, Apr 28, 1990)

Sudan (Apr 01)

Trade protocol under which the two countries will promote their trade volume to 100 million US$. According to the protocol, Sudan will export to China cotton, arab gum and frankincense, while China will export to Sudan textiles, medicines, medical instruments, tea and building materials.

(XNA, Apr 1, 1990)

CHINA'S ECONOMIC AID

Wolfgang Bartke

Guinea

After completing a repair contract, China on April 18 handed over the Palace of the People and Cinema of Liberty to the Guinean government.

(XNA, Apr 18, 1990)

Mauritania

Under a protocol of April 23, China will send its 19th medical team to Mauritania. Over 600 Chinese doctors and medical workers have worked in Mauritania since the first protocol was signed in 1967.

Sri Lanka

The Polonnaruwa water supply project built with Chinese assistance was inaugurated on April 7. It is located in the capital of the North Central Province, 216 km from Colombo. The project started in April 1986 and was completed in December 1988. The one-year maintenance period for the scheme ended in January 1990. The water supply capacity of the Polonnaruwa project is 6,000 tons per day. Total cost of the project's construction was about 85 million Sri Lankan Rupees (2.18 million US$). Over two-thirds of this sum was provided by China as an interest free loan and the balance by local funding. China also supplied equipment, materials and construction machinery. A Chinese expert team undertook the construction, equipment installation and trial production of the project.
