 - Part 1: Khaṇḍas 1-28. 207 pp.
 - Part 2: Khaṇḍas 29-86. 237 pp.
8. Jaiminīya-Ārṣeya-Brāhmaṇa with Jayanta's commentary. 17 pp.
9. Jaimini-Gṛhya-Sūtra & Gṛhya-kārikā by Bhavatrāta. 242 pp.

A general introduction to this preliminary edition is to be found in the first volume.

The Vikṛti-Kalpa (JK 4) is the last part of the Jaimini-Kalpa. It defines the Sāmavedic liturgy of the ectype (vikṛti) Soma sacrifices, using the abbreviated definitions explained in the Saṃjñā-Kalpa (JK 3).

The author has left a number of rites mentioned in the Stoma-Kalpa undefined in the Vikṛti-Kalpa, and the special sāmans of these rites which are without a sāma-kalpa are also missing in the Jaiminīya Uttara-Gāna. For some reason or another, the author did not quite complete what he had planned to do. It appears that the author of the Jaimini-Kalpa was also the author of the Jaiminīya Uttara-Gāna.

There is one clearly later addition in the Jaiminīya Uttara-Gāna. While the ahīna rite mahātrikakubdaśarātra is included in the Stoma-Kalpa (JK 1,9,11) but left undefined in the Vikṛti-Kalpa, its sāmans do appear at the end of the Jaiminīya Uttara-Gāna (JŪha 4,16,1-18; JŪhya 3,4,13-18), not in their expected place in the ahīna section, but after the sāmans of the sattra rite saṃsadām ayana, as the last rite before the sāmans of the prāyaścitta section (which includes the saṃsava, as in do the prāyaścitta sections JB 1,342-364 and PB 9,3-10).

Bhavatrāta and Candraśekhara complement the Vikṛti-Kalpa by giving the kalpa of many rites not included in JK 4. These rites are noted in their appropriate places amidst the rites the liturgy of which has been defined.

Although this text mostly consists of "dry lists" of sāmans, the names of the rites (including those occurring in the Stoma-Kalpa) offer some other kind of interesting new information, for the names of the rites connected with different kinds of vrātyas, JK 1,5,1-10 and JK 4,74-79.

Candraśekhara's Sāma-Prayoga-Vṛtti has as its main aim establishing the unabbreviated kalpa of the vikṛti rites. His reconstructions are edited in the case of each rite after the rules of JK 4. I have filled the gaps in Candrasekhara's text with my reconstructions. Besides the kalpa, Candrasekhara defines also the pratihāras of the sāmans sung in the rite, leaving undefined only those sāmans the pratihāra of which has already been defined in previously handled rites. In all cases, Candrasekhara extensively cites his authorities for his reconstructions, including the Jaimini-Kalpa and the Jaimini-Paryadhyāya and their commentaries by Bhavatrāta or Jayanta. In the absence of other manuscripts of the JK and the JPA than the Tj, these massive quotations have provided a most welcome check on these texts.

In the Prākṛta-Kalpa it was necessary to refer to the Jaiminīya Uttara-Gāna to indicate the ordering of its sāmans. Here the Uttara-Gāna references are given in the prayoga sections, and the sūtras can have references to the Pūrva-Gāna, which alone is supposed to have existed when the Kalpa-Sūtra was composed (cf. Caland, Der Ārṣeyakalpa des Sāmaveda, 1908, p. x). This was indeed the case, if the author of the Kalpa was also the author of the Uttara-Gāna, as suggested above.

Note: JB 2,85: 194,17-18 refers to the ṛthivyai sāma assigned to the midday pavamāna of the virāj rite as follows: tasyendus samudram urviyā vibhātīty etad ādiṣṭasāma mādhyandine pavamāne bhavati ṛthivyai sāma. No verse worded indus samudram urviyā vibhāti is known from the Jaiminīya-Saṃhitā or the Ṛgveda (its two halves do occur: RV 9,84,4c īnduḥ samudrāṃ ...; RV 1,92,9b; 2,358b; 5,28,1b; 6,6,4c ... urviyā ví bhāti). Actually, indus samudram urviyā vibhāti is a stobha of the ṛthivyai sāma both in its yoni JGG 5,1,21 and in JŪha 3,1,18.

This sāman, ṛṣabhaś śākvaraḥ, is JĀrG 14,6 composed on JS 1,40,1; its only occurrence in the JŪhya is 1,3,13-15, where it is adapted to the anuṣṭubh verses JS 3,30,9-11; it is included in the ārbhava pavamāna of the fifth day of the pṛṣṭhya ṣaḍaha (JK 2,19). Here in the mādhyandina pavamāna it is out of place, and by leaving it out the required 21-versed stoma is completed, see the prayoga below.

⁶⁶ Tj and Ca. both have niṣedha instead of audalam, which T has between krauñcam and maha, while audalam is omitted altogether in the Ca. quotation of JK 4,16b. To fill the stoma one needs to have the niṣedha chanted on three verses as it is in JK 4,16a, where the niṣedha is followed by audalam ekasyām - while here the niṣedha sung on a tristich would hardly be followed by the niṣedha starting a sāmātrca.

⁶⁷ vājadāvāryo Ca. - After vājadāvāryo, T has the following cancelled text which is not found in Ca. quotation: gner vratāt sāmātrco naudhasavanti tṛceṣu svāsīrāmarkavanti; this is clearly a ditto-graphy from JK 4,17.

Note: JK 4,18 quoted in Ca. p. 169-170 fol. 37a: vinuktes trayastrimśam ... vinukter (JK 1,2,18) iti stomavacanāt vinukter ... kṛptam itarad (JK 4,18) iti vacanāt. – Ca. calls this rite vinukti- (thus three times p. 169 fol. 37a in connection with the quotation of JK 1,2,18, and also while quoting JK 4,19 p. 174 fol. 38a), while the mss. of JB 2,104-5 vacillate between vinutti- and vinukti-; vinutti- chosen into the JB
 ed. is undoubtedly correct, as JB 2,104 connects with the verb vi-nud-.

⁷⁷ Bh 174,3-5 seems to base his commentary here on the wrong reading catvāriṃśo of JK 1,1,14 (actually found in one of the two Ca. quotes of JK 1,1,14), although the kalpa of JK 2,30 clearly shows that the only possible reading is catuścatvāriṃśo, and the gāyatra sāmān is needed to fill this stoma – see the prayogavṛtti below.

⁷⁸ There are two sāmāns called mānavam used in this manustoma, the former (pūrva) = JGG 1,5,15 = JŪha 3,3,19-21 and the latter (uttara), JGG 1,5,16 = JŪha 3,3,16-18; the latter is used here, in the mādhyandīna-pavamāna; however, if one follows the practice prescribed in JB 2,108 and in JK 4,19k-1, the latter mānava replaces the śyāita (JŪha 1,4,16-18) as the brahmasāmān (third pr̥ṣṭha) and is chanted on its own verses (JS 1,5,10 = 4,8,5[-6]) as JŪha 3,3,23-25 and the former mānava is used in the mādhyandīna-pavamāna. On the name mānavam, see Bh 172,19 (8) and Ca. p. 5 fol. 1b, line 36.

¹⁶³ The ṛca JS 4,22,8-10 corresponds to SV 2,925-927, but in the Kauthuma tradition the fourth ājya of the sarvasvāra is to be sung on the caturṛca SV 2,925-928 (SV 2,928 having a counterpart in JS 4,2,7), yet so that the second (SV 2, 926) out of these four verses is to be left out according to LŚS 6,4,10-12 caturṛcānām āvartīṣv antyām uddharet / tṛtīyāñ sarvasvārasvarasāmnoḥ / pra vām arcanti- (SV 2,925-928) iti dvitīyām / Candrasekhara at the end of his prayoga (before the pratihāra section) quotes pra vām arcanty ukthina and prescribes leaving out the last verse, either JS 4,22,10 or JS 4,23,1, which is part of RV 3,12 as are JS 4,22,8-10; the text is here partly unclear.

²⁶⁵ The śyāitam as the normal br̥hatam brahmasāma is chanted on JS 3,15,9-10; in this rite the brahmasāma is the second br̥hato mārutasya sāmā JGG 4,2,6 chanted on JS 3,6,6-8, as mentioned below, where this line perhaps is meant in order to indicate what is being replaced; if so, then it has by mistake been mentioned here after the first br̥hato mārutasya sāmā JGG 4,2,5. In any case, it does not indicate the verses for the following sāmāns, since the rauravam for example is nowhere sung on these verses.

³⁰⁷ dakṣoṇidhane JK 4,93 quotation in Ca. p. 513 fol. 101a : āṣkārūnidhane T.

³⁰⁸ The Jaiminiya-Ārṣeya-Brāhmaṇa knows the two sāmans JGG 6,9,19-20 composed on JS 1,57,5 only as dāśaśīrṣe or dāśaśīrohe dve. Neither of them appears in the JŪha. In the Ārṣeya-Brāhmaṇa of the Kauthumas the corresponding two sāmans composed on SV 1,558 dhartā divaḥ are called dāśaśīrasī dve dāśasarase vā. However, JB 3,219: 445,30 - 446,3 commenting on JS 3,47,4-6 mentions that a sāman called udvat tripraroham is composed on these verses - possibly the first of them, which has three notations marked with the letter c denoting udgama (Howard 1988: 2). This sāman is called viśālam (tad v evācaksate viśālam iti), and the reason for this is explained.

³²⁴ The prayogavṛtti of Ca. is incomplete for the ārbhava pavamāna, for three stotriyās are lacking. The additions here proposed are based on the parallel of JK 4,31. Another possibility is 12-14 or 13-15 yajñāyajñīyam (JŪha 2,5,13-15) tiṣṛṣu, on the parallel of JK 4,93 and JK 4,96, but then there is no obvious candidate for the missing one stotriyā.

³⁵¹ Due to an extensive lacuna in the Ca. ms. (fol. 112a), only the beginning (Bh 185,5-6) and the end (Bh 185,27 - 186,4) of this long quotation survive.

³⁵² Bh 185,5-6 quoted in Ca. p. 565 fol. 111b: atra vṛttikāragrantho 'nusaṃdheyaḥ / evam iha ... tatrāśvatrirātrādayo [begins a long lacuna].

³⁵³ In his kalpa, Bhavatrāta follows the style of the JK; this is decoded in a prayogavṛtti which follows Candraśekhara's style.

³⁵⁴ This sāmān is not readily adapted to JS 3,11,1-3 in the JŪha.

³⁵⁵ The kākṣivataṃ and pramaṃhiṣṭhīyam sāmāns inserted here between sāmāns chanted in JS 3,16,1-3 are not adapted to these verses in the JŪha, but they occur together sung on JS 3,48,1-3, and also on JS 3,5,1-3 svādīṣṭhayā, which is an alternative here: in that case they are JŪha 3,9,26-28 and JŪha 3,9,29-31.

³⁷⁶ Four stotriyās of the mādhyandina pavamāna have been omitted in the ms. of Candrasekhara's prayogavṛtti. To fill the stoma, the rathantara and yauḍhājaya sāmans have been added as the most likely missing sāmans in their most likely places. Both are found adapted to the required verses in the JŪha.

³⁷⁷ While the santani on JS 4,28,5-7 in the Tamil version of the JŪha (4,10,14) is an ekarca, in the Nambudiri version of the JŪha (7,8,10) it is a tṛca.

Ca. adjusts the rāthantara kalpa of JK 2,19 to the bārhatā context of JK 4,116 by replacing the pratipad JS 3,1,3-5 upāsmāi gāyatā naraḥ with JS 3,13,1-3 pavaśva vāco agriyaḥ. Ca. however does not take into account JK 4,116b, which prohibits taking away three verses (tisro, scil. ṛcaḥ) from the navarca, which according to Bhavatrāta is pra svānāsaḥ, i.e., JS 3,35,4 - 3,36,2 (JK 3,1,7). Neither this navarca nor its parts figure in the kalpa proposed by Ca. where (pra somāso adhanviśuḥ is a saptarca (JK 3,1,5). On the other hand, the entire navarca is used in the vyūḍha version of the bahiṣpavamāna in JK 2,29, while the samūḍha version — which is supposed to be followed in the vikṛtis — has the ṣaḍṛca pari svānāsa indavo (JS 3,35,7 - 3,36,2), which is included the said navarca (and therefore not separately listed as a ṣaḍṛca in JK 3,1,4). If the first three verses of this navarca are not removed, as they have been in JK 2,29, the 24-versed samūḍha version of JK 2,29 becomes 27-versed as required by the triṇava stoma.

⁴⁴⁶ Hereafter there is an unmarked lacuna in the Ca. ms., where the text continues with hy aṅga daivya. The missing portion has been reconstructed.

⁴⁴⁷ Thus following the instruction of JK 4,125 and the JŪha. Instead, Ca. has ((tvaṃ)) hy aṅga daivya (JS 3,24,4-5) somaḥ punāna ūrmiṇā- (JS 3,24,6-8) iti bṛhatka- (JŪha 1,6,28-30) ātiṣādiye (JŪha 1,6,31-33), following here JK 2,18.

⁴⁶³ There is no indication of the sāmans of the stotriyās 40-45 needed to fill the stoma. The suggestion of the uttaram arkapuṣpam and the audalam chanted on JK 3,48,4-6 is based on the parallel of the upahavya (JK 4,33), where they occur immediately before the final kāvam chanted on JS 4,20,8-10. An alternative for the arkapuṣpam is the pāñcavājam, which occurs in JK 2,30 in association with the audalam, both chanted on JS 3,48,4-6, but not just before the kāvam. The arkapuṣpam (JŪha 3,8,33) and the pāñcavājam (JŪha 1,10,78) are found in the JŪha adapted to an ekarca only, not the whole tṛca JS 3,48,4-6.
